Aldine Independent School District, 10th Grade Classroom Resources and Advisory Guide

"If even one person in a school knows him well enough to care, a student's chances of success go up dramatically. In small groups that can focus on a range of subjects, teachers and students are forming new bonds and setting new standards for a more personal education." (Horace, September 1990).

High school advisory programs and social and emotional learning in the classroom allow students to discuss and address certain issues that are unique to a high school student's life. As the advisory or discussion leader, your role is to listen and respond to students, asking open rather than closed questions and working to create an engaging climate of trust, sharing, participation and self-reflection among your students.

Connect with Kids video resources, along with discussion questions and activities, provide the platform. Business experts call it "see-feel-change," fueling action by sparking emotion. Connect with Kids calls it educating the heart: using the power of storytelling and peer-to-peer connections to create heart-felt associations. Research shows that children and adults who emotionally connect with an experience are more likely to make life-long behavioral change than those who just receive information about that experience. Students realize that they are not alone in their feelings and challenges, sometimes referred to as "strength in numbers."

This is a suggested guide for high school classroom and advisory session video and print resources, all of which stream on Connect with Kids WebSource websites. Contact Connect with Kids client support at 1-888-598-KIDS (5437) or email info@cwknetwork.com with any questions regarding resources or implementation.

21.	Underage Drinking Prevention	In the Age of Alcohol - Part 2	Real stories explore underage drinking, the influence of genetics, and resulting bodily harm. People of all ages who don't learn to drink responsibly often use alcohol as a means of escaping.
22.	Underage Drinking Prevention	In the Age of Alcohol - Part 3	This segment explores the use of alcohol as a "social crutch," and how drinking alcohol is too often a way to escape problems and anger. The earlier kids begin drinking, the more likely they will experience detrimental effects, and the more likely they will become alcoholics and not know how to interact socially.
23.	Underage Drinking Prevention	In the Age of Alcohol - Part 4	Watch the real story of two parents who allow their daughters to throw a party involving underage drinking, which got out of hand when the police showed up and a car caught on fire.
24.	Underage Drinking Prevention	In the Age of Alcohol - Part 5	Ashley, now a paraplegic, shares her experience with what happened when she decided to drink and drive, and how that one night changed her life forever.
25.	Life Skill	Avoiding Plagiarism	A survey of more than 30,000 teens says that 64 percent have cheated on a test in class. And one in three has used the Internet to cheat on a class assignment or plagiarize a paper. Help your students understand that they may be cheating... themselves.
26.	Life Skill	Respect	When Kyle Van West decides she's in love, she decides to have sex. She was fifteen years old, and she thought she was ready. Then the relationship ended, and Kyle went into a deep depression.
